About Library

About College Library

With the establishment of the college in the year 1961, the college library is established to cater the learning needs of the users. During course of time the library is developed by collection, users and staff. Since 2009 the library is automated using LIBMAN proprietary software which was developed by the Masters Software Nagpur. From the year 2019 the College Library is automated using the internationally acclaimed OPEN-SOURCE Library Management System that is KOHA (ILMS) which is installed on OPEN-SOURCE Operating System that is LINUX. The current implemented version of Koha is 20.11.06.000. The inhouse OPAC is available in the library and the Web Based OPAC (Open Access Catalog i.e. interface of Koha (<http://adarshalib.ddns.net>) can be accessed remotely during 10.30am to 05.30pm on all working days. The inhouse LAN is established in the library. This library supports partially open access to the students and fully open access to the faculty and college personnel. The college library has a strong trust to procure latest editions books and demands of the teaching fraternity and students as well. The patrons' needs which is not possible to cater by the library, the library has subscribed N-LIST consortia developed by the INFLIBNET under UGC. The library is enabled with Internet connectivity of 60bps speed with Wi-Fi. The internet access facility is made available in the library to the students and staff also. As per the possible library budget the library has a regular practice to subscribe journals in print, magazines and daily newspapers.
